PREFACE

The Public Affairs Information Service is an association of public, university, and special libraries having as its sole object the publication of a current bibliography of selected material in English relating to economic, social and political affairs.

The present volume is a cumulated bulletin superseding all issues of the year ended September 30, 1926. It contains references to articles in about nine hundred periodicals, to papers in the proceedings of trade, professional, and labor associations, to books, chapters in books, government documents, pamphlets, and typewritten compilations by a number of libraries. Publications, in English, from many foreign countries are included. The session laws of all English speaking legislative bodies that could be obtained have been indexed, in so far as they fall within the scope of this bibliography. Having in mind the wide use of this volume as an aid to library reference work, the editors have been particularly careful to emphasize books and articles of a practical nature on contemporary topics. Statistical information is likewise given prominence.

Attention is called to the Key to periodical references and the Directory of publishers and organizations, to be found at the beginning of this volume. Titles of periodicals referred to in the volume are abbreviated. By turning to the Key to periodicals one finds the complete title, place of publication and price. The same procedure is followed with publishing houses mentioned in the text. Their full names and addresses are given in the Directory. When no separate publisher is given for material by an association it is understood that the association is the publisher and its address will be found in the Directory.
